Phi Mu Staff Updates

PEACHTREE CITY, GA—Executive Director Darlene Reyes, Kappa Eta, announces new staff joining the National Headquarters team.

On Tuesday, February 16, Jill Courson Mahar, Epsilon Omicron, will begin in her new staff role as the Director of Leadership and Curriculum Development and Analeigh Horton, Alpha Gamma, will start as the Delta Area Collegiate Relations Coordinator.

Jill is currently the Director of Student Organizations and Leadership at Cleveland State University; her areas of responsibility include fraternity and sorority life, student organization management and leadership programming. She received her bachelor's degree in Psychology at Southern Arkansas University and her master's degree in Counseling and Student Personnel from Oklahoma State University. Analeigh is a 2015 graduate of Samford University and was the alumnae relations chairman as well as serving on other committees for her collegiate chapter.

"Analeigh will be a great addition to our staff and I know the Delta Area chapters will benefit from working with her," said Darlene. "Jill is a natural fit, too. She has professional experience as a fraternity/sorority advisor and she is resigning her volunteer position as the National Member Development Chairman to take this on this role to work, now as a staff member, with the member development volunteers! She has also served Phi Mu as a Chapter Adviser and an Area Operations and Finance Director. With the combination of higher education and volunteer experience that Jill brings, she will elevate the programming that we provide for our members."

Previous Delta Area Collegiate Relations Coordinator Kenzie Childs, Theta Beta, resigned in January and took a job at CMPC in logistics support. Previous Director of Leadership and Curriculum Development Ivonne Ramirez, Gamma Delta, relocated to Florida to live closer to her family.

Jill and Analeigh may be reached at these email addresses, beginning February 16:
